[illegible] Address to Business Men

[illegible] says editorially The device of [illegible] in order to get signatures [illegible] men of the country favorable to [illegible] be born of the same spirit of desperation [illegible] Tilden to write his letter promising [illegible] rebel claims. He has by this last [illegible] only betrayed the fact that his call [illegible] men of the country was signed by [illegible] porters and salesmen in the [illegible] Claflin & Co the heads of which are [illegible] but he brought out a response [illegible] members of the Produce Exchange [illegible] their belief in his unfitness to be [illegible] rebel claims. Evidently the [illegible] Democratic national headquarters are [illegible] as the weather and the situation war[illegible]

The [illegible] Compared.

[illegible] of the parade last night the Tribune [illegible] of the torchlight procession [illegible] last night with the Democrats [illegible] night is decidedly favorable to the [illegible] while the Republicans had all [illegible] Two-fifths certainly probably [illegible] in the Democratic procession [illegible] in the Republican procession [illegible] made under age.

[illegible]'s Reply to the Confederate Democracy.

[illegible] Nov. 4—The Democrats have been [illegible] particularly constant and vi[illegible] Col. Mosby They represent him [illegible] of the administration and [illegible] hostility against him as a deserter [illegible] He has written, in reply to [illegible] the following letter, which [illegible] explanation

WARRENTON VA Nov 2 1876

[illegible]—Dear Sir I have just re[illegible] of the 30th ult informing me [illegible] Senator in Philadelphia had stated [illegible] had appointed me to some office [illegible] denounce the statement as it is [illegible] with the Tilden bureau and it [illegible] by me to be false in a letter pub[illegible] ago They still continue to [illegible] other lies about me I have [illegible] any shape the slightest favor or [illegible] from Gen. But [illegible] such men in the North as Tilden [illegible] never have plunged into a disas[illegible] their fortunes on [illegible] that perfidious bark [illegible] and [illegible] with curses dark

[illegible] Reply to Evarts.

[illegible] Smith in reply to Evarts is truly [illegible] by the Herald as no reply He did not [illegible] and refute Evarts' arguments show[illegible] to the restoration of national [illegible] election of Hayes as a consistent [illegible] policy against Tilden and party [illegible] and record throw the doors open [illegible] to damage of the national [illegible] disturbance of the now steadily [illegible] revivals stimulated by the ap[illegible] and to all the evils which [illegible] success of the party dominated by [illegible] of at least partial repudiation or [illegible] Wells argument was mainly [illegible] which is not an issue in this cam[illegible] says it is different from Evarts [illegible] repudiation table is from a patri[illegible]

[illegible] Situation at the East

[illegible] boasts of Tilden men their [illegible] materially shaken during [illegible] Their desperation is shown by the [illegible] to get up a respectable call of the [illegible] as a counter movement to that in [illegible] The latter was signed by [illegible] of the Chemical Bank and many [illegible] him subscribed liberally weeks [illegible] the funds but have since taken [illegible] the evidence of the commercial [illegible] to be precipitated by Tilden's elec[illegible] the 300 signers of the Democratic call [illegible] If any prominent business houses [illegible] Democratic houses [illegible] signatures Only 49 signatures are [illegible] directory, fifteen giving one ad[illegible] clerks and boys in Claflin & Co's [illegible] are notably Republican

[illegible] bragging appears in the [illegible] The sham pools are now selling [illegible] of Tilden without the least appa[illegible] such change since last week The [illegible] with tales. The Democratic national [illegible] address, issued by Chairman Hewitt [illegible] predicting that Tilden will have [illegible] votes, excluding Ohio discreetly fails [illegible] will give them

[illegible] advices unquestionably show a panic [illegible] message, after a careful canvass [illegible] to the Democratic ma[illegible] only Republican apprehension for [illegible] Connecticut and New Jersey is the fear [illegible] frauds in the rural districts [illegible] in single localities but im[illegible] the aggregate This it is now known [illegible] system in Indiana. Clearly some [illegible] saved or all usual signs indi[illegible] triumph in New York State by [illegible] majority The Republican [illegible] expect this while Tilden [illegible] with equal certainty of success by much [illegible]

[illegible] Assault on a Negro Procession.

[illegible] John Bodds, the only policeman present [illegible] fight was begun early this morning [illegible] the colored boys in blue and the members of [illegible] Jackson Democratic Association [illegible] of its origin When the negroes had [illegible] Greenwich street on the way [illegible] to the ferry the members of the as[illegible] hearing the beating of drums [illegible] pelting the negroes with bricks and [illegible] Some ascended to the [illegible] hurled their missiles at the [illegible] The officer found two members [illegible] lying prostrate and arrested [illegible] the black men had become [illegible] marching quietly and peaceably [illegible] they felt the blows of [illegible] remained to stand up for their rights [illegible] armed [illegible] but soon [illegible] into requisition They [illegible] and chased them up the street [illegible] of the association on the [illegible] barricading the first floor [illegible] saloon The negroes [illegible] contented themselves [illegible] the hallway and [illegible] at which they received [illegible] from the Democrats who had [illegible] and who fired at them [illegible] ferry gates. The [illegible] but the wounded [illegible] Democratic side. Wm J [illegible] of 29 Desbrosses street was stabbed in the [illegible] the weapon penetrating his left lung. He [illegible] wound and there is no probability he will recover Thos J Fisher aged [illegible] street, was badly cut in the [illegible] aged 21 [illegible] Canal street was [illegible] a ball which grazed his breast [illegible] the negroes were hurt is not yet ascertained [illegible] other source of information as to the [illegible] affray is as follows The colored men [illegible] from the procession halted in West [illegible] of their members left the ranks [illegible] saloon on the corner of Des[illegible] streets, where a number of [illegible] drinking. The white men began [illegible] by calling them oppro[illegible] push them from the bar This [illegible] man knocking the cap from [illegible] struck the white [illegible]

Tweed Makes a Confession Implicating Tilden the Genuineness of which is Denied

NEW YORK Nov [illegible] Abram S. Hewitt chairman of the National Democratic committee [illegible] this morning to the people of the United States the [illegible] which [illegible] the following extract:

I deem it my duty to caution the public against the pretended confession of Wm M Tweed seeking to implicate Tilden in the New York [illegible] frauds, which I am [illegible] is already [illegible] in advance of the arrival of the [illegible] said to [illegible] New York until [illegible] of the election [illegible] color to fraud and prevent its contradiction

Registry Frauds in the Rural Districts of New York

Republicans are still confident of success though they claim that the Democracy [illegible] their efforts to create a registry [illegible] in New York has transferred [illegible] to the rural districts. On this [illegible] the Times of to-day says: The Democrats are resorting to the most desperate devices to carry the State. The election frauds of New York City are evidently about to be repeated in all the large towns and cities in the interior of the State. This whole section is flooded by Democratic repeaters and illegal voters and the local authorities are powerless to deal with them. The intended fraud on ballot registry is something unheard of and it is only too evident that immense frauds are to be attempted seemingly without any adequate means to prevent their success. The local committees are moving in the matter however and no means will be spared to prevent an honest expression of the will of the people from being over-ridden by tramps repeaters and vagabonds who have been colonized by Tilden's agents. The registry was completed throughout the State to day. Returns from Oswego Albany Buffalo and Syracuse and other large towns show an increase in all cases of one to six thousand over the highest vote ever polled

Sufficiently Explicit

ATLANTA GA Nov 4—U S Marshal Smith notified the chief of police to day that he had exclusive control of the polls on Tuesday

Registration Closed.

NEW YORK, Nov 4—Registration throughout the State closed to night. Returns indicate a heavy vote on Tuesday

Final Demonstration of Democrats at Cincinnati

CINCINNATI Nov 4—The Democrats had their final demonstration to night. A good deal of bad feeling was displayed by the crowds on the sidewalks. It is stated that several boulders were thrown into the ranks injuring some men in the procession. An attack was made on the Republican headquarters in the eighteenth ward and the building gutted. One man was shot by a negro who was promptly arrested by the police and hurried to the station house followed by a large crowd with threats of lynching. A crowd of several thousand men collected about the station house. Mayor Johnson addressed the crowd, advising them to leave the prisoner in the hands of the officer, which had a quieting effect. At a late hour the crowd dispersed

Gov. Kemper Issues a Proclamation.

RICHMOND Nov 3—Midnight.—Gov Kemper has just issued a proclamation stating that information has just been received that a detachment of the U S army had been this day quartered at Petersburg under orders to remain till after the election to be under the sole direction of Federal officials. The governor says the troops are introduced with the design of intimidating the people and controlling the pending election for partisan purposes and characterizes it as an act of flagrant usurpation and ungranted authority designed to incite and foment domestic violence which is falsely pretended to be threatened. He enjoins on all such moderation and self denying forbearance as will preclude the possibility of any disturbance of the public peace

Cotton Merchants and Manufacturers Issue a Circular Favoring Hayes.

NEW YORK. Nov 4—The men engaged in the cotton trade here have issued a circular favoring Hayes as have also the great manufacturing firms of the city. Among the signers to the latter document are Alfred C Roe J B & J M Cornwell Danforth Locomotive Machine Co. Pacific Rolling Mill Co J H Jackson Herring & Co Marvin Safe & Scale Co New Britain—Bank Lock Co John Roach, Morgan's Iron Works Booth's Steam Boiler Works George Fox & Son's Boiler Works Benjamin Fox Foundry Works M K White foundry works C H Delamater & Co iron works Nathaniel Cheney architectural iron works Coville manufacturing company and many others

Specimen Letter from South Carolina.

The Times has received a letter from Aiken South Carolina which it publishes as follows: If you think you will gain southern votes for the Republican candidates by doing so, you are making very unprofitable use of time ink and paper in denouncing Samuel J Tilden for being the leader of the only party that will help the down trodden South. The Republican party in power has liberated our slaves this with the war has impoverished us and we ask you to make reparation. Had the Times been injured by the Hell Gate explosion would you not have called on the Government for damages? It would have been a just claim and would be paid. The Republican party will not do it and we are justifiable in voting for those who will. The South is solid for Tilden and Hendricks and reform and thank God we are better able to command the vote of the South than we were four years ago. It will not be our fault if Tilden the champion of reform is not our next President.

Election of Hayes Assured

NEW YORK, Nov 5—The Times to day makes the following important information: From the most trustworthy sources including our own specials, and dispatches to the Republican National Committee as late as 8 o'clock last evening, it indicates that all doubt about the election of Hayes and Wheeler has been removed by the extraordinary manifestation of public sentiment during the last ten days especially in this city; has a great change taken place as is evinced by votes in public places, notably at the New York Stock Exchange where ten days ago there was a majority for Tilden while on Friday the vote stood 313 for Hayes to 20 for Tilden. Many similar changes are noted caused by the general uprising of bankers merchants manufacturers and other business men produced in a great measure by the general conviction that the election of Tilden means the imposition upon the country of a great burden of debt and taxation to pay war claims. The fact that Tilden's frantic call upon Southern Democrats to save his election by agreeing not to press war claims has been responded to by only 5 out of 14 Southern States appealed to and not by Missouri which has already issued over two millions of claims in greenbacks purporting to be valid claims against the United States has added to the growing distrust. A most unfavorable impression has also been produced by the issue by the Democratic central committee of an address warning the country against the expected statement which the committee say is already printed of Wm M Tweed implicating Tilden in his plundering of New York City. As a result of these late and universally prevalent manifestations of the tendency of people no confidence of a Democratic victory is shown by any one except Tilden himself and the [illegible] who have been employed to make all [illegible] to telegraph [illegible] for effect in the country. As a summary of the present indications it may be stated that the projected Democratic frauds in this city will be prevented and the majority kept down to thirty five or forty thousand which will be more than [illegible] by the interior [illegible] New York Hayes and Wheeler are sure of [illegible] ninety five votes [illegible] more than enough without counting [illegible] other States [illegible] North Carolina [illegible] New Jersey [illegible] Indiana [illegible] Louisiana [illegible] Oregon [illegible] Hayes he will receive [illegible] Most thoroughly [illegible] have [illegible]

About 400 Mississippians took part in the procession and among them were a number of colored men belonging to the Democratic clubs [illegible] Hon [illegible] and was expected to deliver an address at the Exposition building but [illegible] for the train on which [illegible] was taken ill and on arriving here was compelled to go to bed. Speeches were made by Gen Alexander Campbell Judge W [illegible] Brown and others

Troops for South Carolina

CHARLESTON S C Nov [illegible] The distribution of troops through the State will be completed to morrow. Four companies will be assigned in squads to the polling places in this city and along the coast, but the bulk of Gen Ruger's force will occupy the upper counties

Excitement in New York—The Gamblers' Argument

NEW YORK Nov [illegible]—The excitement over the approaching election is intense and this evening the lobbies of the hotels are crowded with persons eagerly discussing the result in this State which many believe will decide the contest. Betting is very heavy and the pool room quotations favor Tilden. Republicans claim these don't represent the real state of the pools, and outside wagers are nearly even on the State ticket, Republicans giving odds on the general result. The canvass in this city owing to the fact that the State Democratic ticket is almost certain of being elected is claimed as calculated not to bring out a full vote and this the Republicans urge as favorable to them

Railway Accident.

MEMPHIS Nov 5—A distressing accident on the eastern train of the Memphis and Little Rock Railroad last night near Edmundson caused by the forward truck of the sleeping car dropping down throwing it over the trestle pulling the next car off with it piling the passengers in a promiscuous heap. Francis Moore of Bledsoe's Landing Arkansas was badly injured and died within half an hour. An infant of J G Fergusson of Mississippi was fatally injured. J J Barnes of Bowling Green Kentucky was severely injured. Mrs John G Wathameyers of Kansas had a rib broken and severe internal injuries. Fifteen others were slightly wounded. Luckily the sleeper was empty or the casualties would have been larger. The wounded arrived here at one o'clock this morning and will be promptly cared for

Address of the Business Men of San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO Nov 4 The following is full text of the address which will be published in the city papers to morrow morning. Many of the signers are men who have hitherto affiliated with the Democrats. The signers announce their intention of appearing in the line of the Republican torch light parade Monday evening next

It having been asserted that there was great apathy and indifference among business men in San Francisco as to the result of the Presidential election we take this means of correcting any false impression that may be circulated in relation thereto. The undersigned merchants bankers and business men are deeply impressed with the grave importance of this election, and recognize the necessity of earnest work to secure the election of the Republican nominees for President and Vice President of the United States. The financial and business prosperity of the country is involved in the preservation of good order, rights of person and property, and in maintaining the supremacy of law throughout the entire country. Believing this, and entertaining the opinion that the best interests of the nation will be subserved by the election of Hayes and Wheeler and that the material progress of the nation will be best advanced by their success we earnestly recommend our fellow citizens to unite with us upon election day in promoting the success of the Republican party and the triumph of Republican principles. ### Preparing for Election.

SAN FRANCISCO Nov [illegible]—The approaching election is apparently the sole topic of interest to the exclusion of all other matters. The United States authorities are still on the look out for fraudulent registration and it is believed will be successful in pretty thoroughly guarding against crooked voting. Business men are preparing to close stores on election day and devote their time to work in the interest of their respective parties. Everything indicates that a very large vote will be polled. Considerable feeling against Tiner, and in favor of his opponent Davis is manifested among business men of Democratic proclivities but it seems doubtful whether the feeling is sufficiently wide spread to exert any marked influence on the election. Both sides are using every effort for the success of their candidates and the contest promises to be remarkably tough and close

SECRETARY MORRILL'S ADDRESS

BY TELEGRAPH

NEW YORK Nov 4—The address to be delivered in Wall street this afternoon by Secretary Morrill has excited the greatest interest and there are indications that the audience will be one of the largest and most influential that ever collected in this city. The preparations for the demonstration are of the simplest kind but long before 1 o'clock [illegible] of interested parties began to collect in the neighborhood of the sub treasury and as the time drew near the crowd became more dense and it was difficult to find at any point a spot from which the voice of the speaker was likely to be audible. A small stand for the speaker has been erected at the west end of the steps at the treasury which is draped with red cloth relieved by gilt trimmings above which hangs folds of blue velvet fringed with silver. The stand is canopied with the national color

NEW YORK Nov 4—The following is the Times report of Morrill's speech: Sixteen years ago last March when the party came into power in whose interest you are here assembled to day you had no nationality; the Government of your country was broken asunder; seven of its States were in open rebellion; they had organized an independent Government within your jurisdiction and limits and were maintaining it; the credit of your country was below par; in other words I exaggerate nothing when I say to you that among the nations of Europe this nation of ours had neither nationality nor credit. What do you say of it to day? All the potentates of the earth have sent their messengers here with their gifts this centennial year. They have laid them at our feet and they do us honor. Its nationality is assured. It ranks as a first class power among the nations of the earth and as to its credit it is second to no other nation in Europe or elsewhere. The aggregate expenditures of the U S Government since 1789 when it was inaugurated on this spot have been little less than fifteen billions of dollars. This sum covers the entire expenditure. You gentlemen and I and all of us have spent within the last sixteen years eleven billion dollars of that. There is no answer for such extravagant and enormous expenditure as that unless we have got something to show for it. Well we have a nationality redeemed regenerated assured and reconstructed so that now it is put in harmony with the Declaration of Independence. That nationality and its flag (its symbol) means a shield and protection to all men high and low. More than that, you have established a credit at which the coffers of the old world fly open on their hinges to take the lowest grade of your bonds. It cost something to do it I know, but if there is a man who thinks the expenditure could have been better employed he had better ask me how we spent that money from the time when our armies crossed the Potomac and entered the rebel territory down to the close of the conflict of arms. If anybody is curious and skeptical or desires to criticise the manner in which the money was expended the next thing he had better do is to dig up the bones of the dead patriots who perished in Southern fields. A solid South to day is the hope of Democracy, the hope of the lost cause, and what is the significance of it let any thinking man answer me [a voice—another rebellion]. Yes it is incipient insurrection. It tends to disorder to day throughout the South. It disturbs public tranquillity and demands that the President shall send the army to preserve the public peace. Let me tell you my friends that a solid South is the Trojan horse in American politics. Its significance is exactly what it was before the rebellion. The American people have learned something, the larger portion of them who are not Bourbons. It also happens that without public credit there is no such thing as public life. Public credit is the life blood of the nation. There is no nationality without it; there can be no public credit without it; therefore these two things are the greatest political factors in public life to day. They are not partisan; they belong to every patriot in the land whether Democratic or Republican for they are the great principles of our Constitution. Something has been said, some question has been raised in the city of New York as to the comparative credits of the government in 1861 and 1875 6. It is alleged that the credit of the government in 1861 was very nearly what it was in 18[illegible]. That I may be accurate I will read from a speech, an extremely able speech and one so specious that on its face it looks as if it were sound, speaking of the credit of the government which he said had been assailed in 1861, he says yet in 1860 under Democratic administration the Government placed its five per cent. bonds with 10 years to run, at one per cent. above par that is the proportion. Now bear in mind the Government of the United States in 1860 as bad as I have represented it to be, about that time was able to place a loan of five per cent. bonds at six or six and a half per cent. I don't question the integrity of the honorable gentleman who made that speech. I don't believe he intended to misrepresent, but I will show him how much mistaken he was. In June '60 Congress authorized a loan of $21 000 000 payable in 10 years. In September the Secretary of Treasury offered $10 000 000 of that loan to the public and it was paid off at an average rate of one tenth of one per cent. above par. Mark you $10 000 000 of that $21 000 000 were paid for in that way. The bidders put up collaterals. $7,000 000 of that loan were taken up by bidders, the balance of it was not taken up but they allowed collaterals to be forfeited from September down to the time they were taken up. In November an election had taken place in this country. They backed out from that loan; they forfeited the three millions; they forfeited collaterals and you will see therefore that the credit of the country was not exactly perfect. But what became of the balance of the loan? The government was in debt, its balances were run behind; the government could not pay its debts; it could not pay its current liabilities. They were anxious to have the whole of it loaned and why didn't they? Simply because they could not. They never got an opportunity to [illegible] the balance of it. The balance of it was never put upon the market and from that time down to the time that the Democrats went out of power it was an impossibility to put it upon the market either in this country or abroad. So much therefore for the first statement of the gentleman to whom I refer. He is inaccurate—he does not tell you that a portion of that loan was taken at that and a portion of it was declared to be taken even at the forfeiture of 1 per cent. of that and the balance of it was found to be impossible to put upon the market. Such was the condition of our credit at that time. The next proposition of the gentleman is that in February 1861 the government authorized a loan of some $25 000 000 payable in [illegible] years and that is not yet due. He tells you that $8 000 000 of that loan was put upon the market—I mean to be accurate in this—at prices ranging from 91½ to 90. That he says, government was able to borrow at 6½ per cent. Well my friends the fact turns out that government discounted that $8 000 000 at 9½ per cent. Mark you the loan was twenty five million dollars and what became of the balance? We are speaking of the credit of the government. It has capacity to borrow money and here was the exigency. They wanted 25 millions. They borrowed eight million dollars at 9½ per cent and discounts. That is what they say. They then offered the balance on the market and in the fore part of the next year the whole of that 25 millions was on the market and is now a portion of the debt of the government payable in 1881. Well the government realized for that 89 1 10 per cent and that is all. The pertinency of what I am saying is that Attorney General Taft in some remarks made in the city of New York said in a general way that the borrowing power of the government in 1861 was 12 per cent. You will see what it loaned in 1861 went 89 1 10 per cent so that you will perceive that so far as a comparison of credits is concerned there is a most remarkable disparity between the two. In 1861 it was 89 1 10 per cent and the same securities are selling at 16 per cent in gold to day [cheers]. As you will have seen those very bonds which were put on the market at 89 1 10 in gold were on the [illegible] of this month of November worth in the market $116 and some cents in gold, showing [illegible] [Applause] [illegible] the great [illegible] Wall street of New York [illegible] [illegible] make [illegible] for whom you vote [illegible] day next [Applause]

JAS. G. BLAINE IN NEW YORK.

Immense Mass-Meeting at Cooper Institute.

A WELCOME OF UNBOUNDED ENTHUSIASM—DEMOCRATIC BLUNDERS REVIEWED—LEGISLATION IN CONGRESS—DISLOYAL WAR CLAIMS—MR. TILDEN'S RECORD—CONDITION OF THE SOUTH

The Hon Jas. Blaine at Cooper Institute addressed an audience limited in number only by the utmost capacity of the hall and more persons arrived too late to gain admittance than would have twice filled that large room. The chief topics of the address were the conduct of the Democratic House the rebel war claims the condition of the South and the necessity of either repealing or enforcing the the latest amendments to the constitution

It was thought on the evening of last month when Col Ingersoll spoke in Cooper Institute that not another person could have got into the hall but it was shown last night that its capacity was not tested on that occasion. At 6 45 o'clock the vicinity of the building was crowded, in six minutes after the doors had been thrown open the room was filled, and at 7 30 o'clock the hall the lobbies the corridors and the committee rooms were literally packed. Long lines of eager listeners stood in the converging aisles and all further attempts to get within hearing distance of the speaker became hopeless. And still the multitude surrounded the Institute on the outside each individual hoping that he might be the fortunate one to prove the old adage, that there is always room for one more, and long after the speaker of the evening had warmed to his subject the entrances to the building were thronged with men to whom it seemed to be a sufficient reason for remaining that Blaine was speaking within

At [illegible] o'clock Clarence A Seward rose to make an introductory address. He was cordially greeted and his remarks were received with frequent demonstrations of favor. But when at their conclusion he presented to the audience the Hon James G Blaine, there arose such applause as the oldest Republican war horse present never remembered to have heard before. Cheer followed cheer, the air was at once black with hats and white with handkerchiefs each momentary lull was followed by increased enthusiasm, and it was more than five minutes before it was possible for Mr Blaine to begin his speech. The address occupied about one hour and a half in delivery but the orator had throughout the sympathy of his hearers to such a degree that it is impossible to say what parts of it were the most cordially received. In the back part of the hall the crush was so great as to pass the limits of endurance, and at intervals during the latter part of the speech some confusion was caused by the attempts of individuals to change their positions. But for the most part when the roof was not ringing with applause the multitude was silent and intent. Mr Blaine seemed perfectly restored to health, and several persons who saw him during the last session of Congress remarked his fresher appearance and more complete vigor. His address was as follows

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN It was my fortune, either good or ill—at least it was my fate—to have entered Congress some 14 years ago. I recollect the first winter I took my seat in the House they had under discussion a bill to prescribe a test oath for persons who should thereafter hold office under the government of the United States. That oath has since become historic, and is popularly known as the iron clad oath. Its design was to prevent men who had been in rebellion against the government of the United States from holding office under that government afterward. The day that bill was under discussion in the Senate the Senator from Indiana took the floor—Thomas A Hendricks [hisses]—a gentleman of whom I always spoke kindly in a personal sense. I remember well that in the course of his argument he said to the Senate: "This oath you are now about to pass is useless, because, let me assure you," said Mr Hendricks, with a certain sort of prophecy that nobody but a moderate Democrat could have put on, "that Mason, Slidell and Beauregard will be busy in seeking their personal safety, and will not bother you by seeking to hold office under the government of the United States."

I thought that Mr Hendricks was right, and I should certainly have considered myself a very wild dreamer if I had thought that I should remain in the House long enough to see as I did see on the first Monday of November last 70 of the associates of those men, officers in the Confederate army stand up at the bar of the House of Representatives and be sworn in as Democratic members—sworn in under a modified oath made possible by the leniency of the Republican party, while I and every other loyal man that does sit in the House of House of Representatives is compelled to swear that he never did rebel, and never intended to rebel and that he takes the oath without any mental reservation whatever. These 70 Southern scamps [cheers and laughter] were admitted on their simple promise that they would try and behave themselves hereafter. They went in on that oath assumed their seats, took off their coats, hung up their hats, and made themselves at home, and took command of the House, and the 110 Northern Democrats their associates, were content to sit at their feet, and to take the policy of the Democratic party of the United States from those 70 Southern members of Congress.

In the days of the most arrogant pro-slavery regime that flourished under Pierce and Buchanan never was Southern domination so absolute as it was in the XLIV Congress. [Applause] As the evidence of this it is the fact that the legislative power is lodged in the committees of the House and when the Democrats had in that Congress the power of appointing those committees these 70 Southern men representing a population of 13 000 000 people, associated with 110 Northern men, representing a population of 32 000,000 would have been treated with the greatest liberality if they had been given from one third to one-quarter part of the committees on a pro rata population basis—for neither in commerce, in arts, nor in wealth could the Southern Representatives claim even so great a share as that—yet they actually took possession of 21 out of 3[illegible] committees of the House, and allowed the Democrats of the North to have but 10! And these high spirited, proud Democrats of the North bowed their heads and sat down under that treatment and Mr Samuel S Cox who represents a portion of this city—or misrepresents it as the case may be—when twitted with that fact on the floor of the House said he was glad it was so. "Thank God, Davy," said Uriah Heep "I am umble."

[At this point in the speech there was an immense uproar of laughter and cheering succeeded in a part of the hall by some confusion and turmoil in which the squeezing to death of some one seemed imminent in the terrible jamming of the crowd and it was some moments before the police could urge their way to the place where the trouble was and quiet the disturbance. Mr Blaine resumed before the excitement was entirely quelled continuing.]

The most important rule of the whole body of rules of the House is that which forbids the grafting of independent legislation upon appropriation bills. The very first step this House took was to entirely change that rule and to say no matter what piece of legislation was desired it might be put on an appropriation bill provided it was a matter of retrenchment. That was the sort of sugar coating that it was to this bitter pill. It went through the House—every Republican voting against it and every Democrat voting for it. After that change we came to the Sundry Civil Appropriation bill. Now that as you know contains all those beneficent and benevolent, timely and needed provisions of the Government such as the appropriations for the insane asylum the army and navy hospitals the soldiers retreats the lighthouses for the bringing home of indigent Americans from abroad, and for lights along the coast, etc and while this bill of charity and benevolence was under consideration in the House up rose a Democrat, under instructions from a secret party caucus, and moved to amend it by putting in a clause repealing the Supervisors' law of 1860. [Laughter] A Republican then arose in the House and said. "Why [illegible] your amended rule this is not in order;" [illegible] then the wise man who sat in the [illegible] committee of the whole whose name [illegible] not know and I hope I never shall [illegible] overruled the point of order, and said [illegible] a measure of retrenchment; "[illegible] he if you repeal the Supervisors' law [illegible] will not have to pay the Supervisors." [Laughter] * * *

If I und[illegible] York at all and I do not [illegible] stand much about the [illegible] an honest Republican in [illegible] willing to sw[illegible] any [illegible] have a supervision of the [illegible] count and an ho[illegible] is impossible [Applause]. [illegible] gentlemen, this being the [illegible] and of its being on the [illegible] th[illegible] Sundry civil appropri[illegible] consideration, up jumps a [illegible] moves to repeal the S[illegible] point of order being ov[illegible] so far as the House of [illegible] do it, and they can't [illegible] With some little o[illegible] in legislation, both State and [illegible] undertake to say that I never [illegible] tion in a legislative body so [illegible] redeemably infamous as that [illegible] What was it gentlemen? [illegible] ing the charities of the United [illegible] throat in the spirit of the [illegible] and saying 'You shall not [illegible] for the helpless brave soldiers [illegible] for the helpless brave [illegible] their asylums, you shall not [illegible] to spread a cot in naval or [illegible] on coast or lake or gulf or river [illegible] shall not have one dollar to bring a [illegible] American from a foreign city [illegible] be begging alms from door to door [illegible] shall not have a pint of oil to light the [illegible] cons on your coast, those [illegible] of the [illegible] that warn the mariner of the rocks [illegible] shipwreck and disaster lie before [illegible] shall not have one dollar for [illegible] unless you agree to repeal in the [illegible] Supervisors law in order that we [illegible] enough in the State of New York to [illegible] electoral vote of that State for the D[illegible] party [Applause]

That is what the House said—in just [illegible] many words and they waited on that [illegible] just 61 days. They attempted for [illegible] worry and bully the Senate of the [illegible] States into considering it, but, thank [illegible] the Senate of the United States stood [illegible] They said in effect, if not in words, [illegible] House of Representatives "Your [illegible] tion is entirely and absolutely infam[illegible] we will never consent to it. The [illegible] the United States has a plain chair [illegible] each Senator has a good arm chair, and [illegible] intimated to the House of Representatives [illegible] they proposed to sit there until the [illegible] Centennial of our Independence. MONDAY MORNING NOV 6 1876

THE DEMOCRATS AND THE SOUTH

The Democratic speakers and journals insist that no risk would be taken in the election of Tilden so far as the question of the condition of the South is concerned because, they say the Democracy in good faith cheerfully acquiesce in the new order of things brought about by the reconstruction Events daily transpiring are scarcely reconcilable with the idea of a complete acquiescence and acceptance of the settlement The denial to the colored people of the rights of public assemblage and free discussion calls to mind the days when abolitionists were not allowed to discuss the slavery question in the South, and Northern school marms found the land of chivalry altogether too tropical for them

But if it is true that everything is now so lovely with the Democrats and they are so soundly converted to the Republican doctrine with regard to the South, how does that help on their argument? Have they, who but recently denounced the whole thing as an outrage, got a [illegible] comprehension of its scope and [illegible] by their conversion than the Republicans, by whom it was inaugurated, matured and put into operation possess? [illegible] they suddenly become more devoted to the success of that policy than the party whose policy it has been [illegible] the beginning? We should [illegible] otherwise, reasoning from [illegible] principles of human nature So [illegible] can perceive, the only import[illegible] attached to the professions of [illegible] by the Democrats in the [illegible] or plan of adjustment, adopted [illegible] Republican party, in considering [illegible] now before the country, is its [illegible] evidence of the correctness of the Republican policy If that policy has been so eminently wise and just that it [illegible] eight years mastered the prejudices of its old opponents, and forced their ap[illegible] surely its authors are entitled to [illegible] with the first statesmen of the [illegible] of all persons, the most suit[illegible] entrusted with its administra-

[illegible] ORNEY-GENERAL'S CIRCULAR [illegible] E DUTY OF THE MARSHAL

We call attention to the extracts this [illegible] published, from the circular of [illegible] Attorney-General, to United States [illegible] concerning the duty of the [illegible] to see to it that there is a fair [illegible] election The powers con[illegible] the marshal by law, as de[illegible] Attorney-General, are com[illegible] enough to embrace every [illegible] of preventing or attempt[illegible] a fair election, by vio[illegible] intimidation. In exercising [illegible] the marshal should, of [illegible] in mind that this is the first [illegible] law has been put in force in this [illegible] that, therefore, some reasonable [illegible] must be made for the friction [illegible] new regulations and restraints [illegible] cause. But he should, nev[illegible] discharge his duties faithfully [illegible] energy commensurate with [illegible] of the situation Peo[illegible] be compelled by violence or [illegible] to vote contrary to their con[illegible] duty, nor to refrain from vot[illegible] think proper. The laws for [illegible] of the rights of voters and [illegible] the purity of the ballot, [illegible] enforced through the agency of [illegible] of the general government [illegible] alternative is not to have them [illegible] all, which, under existing cir[illegible] and in view of the intimida[illegible] of the Democracy, will not do [illegible] and there will be one or more United States marshals in [illegible] precinct of this county on election [illegible] will have strict orders to [illegible] and impartially with all par[illegible] not to interfere in the proceed[illegible] or about the polls unless it shall be [illegible] necessary to do so, in order to [illegible] from violence and intimi[illegible] they will be at the same [illegible] with the enforcement of [illegible] will not hesitate to do so on [illegible] of what may be thought or said [illegible] by any person or party

WHAT OF THE POLICE!

[illegible] reported that the police of this city is counted on by the [illegible] managers as an important [illegible] in the election to-morrow If this [illegible] well founded it may as well be [illegible] granted that the managers un[illegible] what they are about, and are not [illegible] upon assistance which they have [illegible] chance of getting In other words, [illegible] Democracy are expecting the police [illegible] party strikers on the day of election [illegible] expect it because they have re[illegible] the promise of those in authority in the police department that such work will be done We sincerely trust the [illegible] may prove that the report has no [illegible] foundation than the solicitude of [illegible] parties, who naturally imagine [illegible] wherever there is opportunity for [illegible] to be taken of them Such ap[illegible] have been expressed in elec[illegible] heretofore, and some persons have [illegible] plained that the police force was actu[illegible] used in aid of the Democratic party [illegible] complaints, however, have of late years, not been proved We trust the [illegible] may be recorded of the police after the election of to morrow But party lines are more closely drawn in this than in any election in four years, and the temptation to improper conduct is greater than in those elections This though no evidence of the truth of the rumor re[illegible] to above is a circumstance to be taken into account in estimating the probabilities In corroboration of the rumor there is another report in circulation and apparently generally accredited to the effect that an assessment has been levied upon the policemen or contributions demanded of them for the Democratic election fund If this is so the truth of the other rumor is legitimately to be inferred The people will see to morrow whether they pay a heavy tax to keep up a police force in order to furnish men and money to the Democratic column on election day, or whether they pay for the legiti[illegible] purposes of a police force

Those Democrats who have the candor to admit that Hayes' past life and personal character are a guaranty of the good faith of his pledges upon the subject of civil service reform still affect to think that he will be unable after his election to redeem these pledges because he will be surrounded and controlled by his party Can he they ask refuse to recognize the obligations he will be under to the party that will have made him President Can he resist the importunities of the politicians to whose support he will be indebted for his election We ask those who reason thus what they have to offer as an assurance of Tilden's good behavior in the matter of the civil service? If Hayes can not resist the pressure of his party friends how can Tilden resist the pressure of his Tilden is a candidate of a party too and of a party out of whose loins the spoils system sprung, His entire political career has been buttoned upon that system The men by whom he is supported by whom he will be elected if elected at all by whom he will be surrounded and admired are of the spoils school of partisans Furthermore he has not dared to notify them that in case of his election he will eradicate that vicious and corrupting system from the government of the country while Hayes, at the very outset in his letter accepting the nomination gave notice to the politicians that they must not expect a continuation of the use of official patronage to reward party servants Hayes can deny the requests of the politicians of his party without the slightest imputation of ingratitude while Tilden would have no such firm ground to plant himself upon And yet they urge Tilden's election as a cure for the corruptions in the civil service Their argument is a defiance of reason and a burlesque upon logic

Following the course of the leading bankers and merchants of New York, the same class in San Francisco have issued an address calling the attention of the public to the peril in which business interests would be placed by the election of Tilden to the Presidency This address, like the other is not a partisan document, but a call to men who have much at stake to beware of the danger that threatens their business and their property The prospect of Tilden's election is regarded by the commercial world not only in America but in Europe as a menace against the business commerce and credit of the country Can it be supposed that these men educated by a life-time of contact with and participation in financial business are all thrown into a panic without cause? They are not the class to rush into the political arena as the champions of a party for its own sake As a general thing they are little influenced by party feeling But they have a very sensitive pocket nerve, and can foretell changes in the financial atmosphere long before the rest of mankind perceive any sign of them The fact, therefore, of their sounding the alarm is of itself a reason why others though not themselves seeing the danger so clearly should hesitate long and be thoroughly persuaded of the safety of their course before resolving to cast their vote in favor of committing the destinies of the country to the keeping of Tilden and the Democratic party.

The canvass for Congress has closed and the candidates have returned to their respective homes to await the verdict of the people Mr Lane goes to day to Roseburg, his home precinct. Mr. Williams will be present to take part in the final grand rally of his party in this city The canvass has been an able one on both sides, and the speakers, even in the heat of debate, have not forgotten the courtesy and decorum due to their character as gentlemen, and as representatives of the two great political parties. The Republicans certainly have no occasion to repent the nomination of Mr Williams, as he has carried their banner throughout the campaign in a manner worthy of his high reputation for ability and candor We hope to be able to announce Wednesday morning that his election is secure

The New York Herald remarks that 'to send troops to the South without cause is to make votes for the Democracy in the North It should have added that for the South to give such abundant cause for sending troops thither is to make votes for the Republicans in the North

THE U S MARSHALS' DUTY

Extract from Circular Letter of Instructions to United States Marshals, from the Attorney General

In the present condition of legislation the United States occupy a position toward voters and voting which varies according as the election is for State and local officers only or for members of Congress and Presidential electors

In elections at which members of the House of Representatives are chosen which by law include also elections at which the electors for President and Vice President are appointed the United States secure voters against whatever in general hinders or prevents them from a free exercise of the elective franchise—extending that care alike to the registration lists the act of voting and the personal freedom and security of the voter at all times as well against violence on account of any vote that he may intend to give as against conspiracy because of any that he may already have given

The peace of the United States therefore, which you are to preserve, and whose violation you are to suppress precedes as well as follows such elections and protects (among others) the rights specified in the last paragraph so that any person who by force violates those rights breaks that peace and renders it your duty to arrest him and to suppress any riots incident or that threaten the integrity of the registration or election to the end that the will of the people in such election may be ascertained and take effect and that offenders may be brought before the courts for punishment

Deputies to discharge these duties may be appointed in any number whatever at the discretion of the marshal and in this connection you are advised that you and each of your deputies general or special have a right to summon to your assistance in preventing and quelling disorder every person in the district above fifteen years of age whatever may be their occupation whether civilians or not and including the military of all denominations — militia soldiers marines all of whom are alike bound to obey you The fact that they are organized as military bodies (whether of the State or of the United States) under the immediate command of their own officers does not in any wise affect their legal character They are still the posse comitatus

I need hardly add that there can be no State law or State official in the country who has jurisdiction to oppose you in discharging your official duties under the laws of the United States If such interference shall take place a thing not anticipated you are to disregard it entirely The laws of the United States are supreme [illegible] officials of the United States [illegible] United States posse [illegible]

AN INDEPENDENT VIEW

HILLSBORO, Oregon, Nov ., 1876

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

"What ticket will the Independents vote?" was a question asked me early in the present campaign The reply was that they ought not to vote a ticket ' but to weigh well the arguments and proofs of the contest, and then vote as their conscientious convictions of national good shall dictate Being on a ticket is no argument either for or against a candidate the real question is how will the State or nation be effected by his election?

The Independent ideal of a President must be first, honest second, clear from all rings and combinations whether in politics or great money corporations, third capable

From this standpoint Independents cannot vote for Tilden

Because he has rested quietly for months under a charge of defrauding the revenue and has not denied the charge by tongue or pen trusting his defense to the explanation of an interested hanger on

Because he has proven himself a demagogue by permitting his admirers to claim for him a war record when he has none

Because while associated with Tweed s notorious ring, he amassed millions of dollars and while he has been Governor of New York not one dollar has been realized from any member of that ring

Because he is proven to have been one of the confidential advisers of the notorious Credit Mobilier said to have involved a swindle of fifty million dollars

Because he has dishonestly claimed the credit of all the improvement in New York State affairs brought about by a legislature elected by the Liberal movement

Because while Governor of New York he signed an unconstitutional law for the benefit of a corporation in which he held stock

Because he is the champion and paid attorney of the great moneyed corporations which threaten our country with so many dangers

Because he owns millions of dollars made out of the people by those corporations

Because he has refused to give any assurance of departure from the corrupt practice of using public positions as party property

Because his own estimate of pledges by candidates for offices is that they are made to be broken

Independents and Liberals would have been pleased to vote for a candidate in ... antagonism with the present White House but to do so they cannot afford to join in with all the rings and organizations ... Mr T... ... either an active member or a ...

In State matters the same rules apply and ... Independents cannot vote for Mr Lane ... [illegible]

He has ... [illegible]

CARD FROM DR. CHAPMAN

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

Your paper of Saturday morning contains a Card from Dr Glisan in which he quotes this local item from your paper of the previous Thursday

About fifteen days ago Jacob Cline was taken ill A physician was sent for after a few days had elapsed who on examining the symptoms pronounced the disorder a disease of the skin ?

Dr Glisan then goes on to excuse his rushing into print by saying that your statement may lead some persons to believe that I am the physician alluded to Why so Why this shaking in his boots for fear some persons should spot him out from the 40 physicians as the man who had blundered when but for his own card not three people in Portland would have probably known that he had ever been in Cline's house or anywhere else where there was smallpox But I would have excused the egotism of the Dr for an I so would the community for exculpating and advertising himself at the same time if he had stopped there as a gentleman should instead of meanly shifting the load off upon my shoulders Dr Glisan says that I was the first to visit Mr Cline instead of Dr Chapman who subsequently saw him and it is alleged that on being told that I had pronounced the disease smallpox he said I was mistaken as it was only a disease of the skin

Alleged by whom? Is a floating irresponsible untraceable rumor to be laid as a grave charge against me in a public journal? But the Doctor proceeds to say that he after abandoning his patient Cline, reported the case to the Chief of Police and heard no more of it for ten days when he called at Cline's again and finding the children sick with the smallpox he reported the case to me I give his own language

I reported the matter to the Mayor Dr Chapman who reiterated his opinion that Cline had only a skin disease until I informed him that the children were ill with the smallpox when he said that he told Cline that he had the smallpox

Now is there a sane man who knows me in Portland where I have lived and practiced medicine for fifteen years who will believe that in the same breath I told Glisan that I informed Cline he had the smallpox but now claimed that it was only a skin disease? The facts are I told Cline when I first visited him that he had variola and I so informed the Chief of Police Cline insisted that it was a skin disease If Glisan had said that I told Cline he had the smallpox and that I told him (Glisan) the same but that Cline called it skin disease he would have stated facts and saved himself the trouble of making an uncandid unwarrantable and uncalled for assault on me While Dr Glisan may choose to abandon his poor, suffering patients to wait on women and children I have never yet refused to do my duty as a physician in waiting upon all rich and poor male and female though they be afflicted with disorders that induce Pharisees and Levites to pass by on the other side ' I want no controversies in the papers I write little for the press I never wrote any poetry not even a column of maudlin doggerel denouncing quacks and humbugs, such as in reading

Should one but see the humbug in his glory
He d think the bard the hero of the story

But I can and will defend myself

DR CHAPMAN

The Welfare of the Human System is in a great measure dependent upon the way in which the bowels perform their evacuative function If they are regular—and they can always be rendered so by the use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters—an important essential of health is secured, and that blessing is very apt to follow If they are irregular chronic constipation and indigestion supervene the liver becomes disordered and the bile being diverted from its natural channel and purposes, enters and contaminates the blood pro, during that yellowish cast of the skin and whites of the eyes which is such a sure index of bilious ness. All these disastrous consequences as well as others of a far more serious nature are remedied and prevented by Hostetter's Bitters the leading American specific for disorders of the bowels, stomach and liver

If you wish to gain votes, treat your friends to Noble Whisky and they will be satisfied Ask for it at any of the prominent saloons.

DEMOCRATIC CLAIMS OF RETRENCHMENT CRITICISED

Well appropriation day came along, and we reached the army and those of you who have attended the Democratic meetings this year or read Democratic newspapers [illegible] I can commend as a very profitable [illegible] must have seen how alarmingly we are in danger of being overrun in this country by military despotism [Laughter] [illegible] erties are imperiled in New York by reason of an enormous standing army that is kept up. Think of it! We have got 38 States and [illegible] ritories, and Alaska unorganized. We have got 15 000 miles of sea coast. We have [illegible] 000 000 of people and we are absolutely having all our liberties imperiled by a standing army of 25 000 men [Laughter] while your city alone needs 3 000 policemen to protect its citizens. When the war was over we had more than a million of men enlisted. They were mustered out and many of them are doubtless here to-night. Then came up the question: What shall be the establishment of number of men in arms? and it was fixed by the act of 1866 at 25 000 men. When Congress [illegible] to legislate on that question we had a [illegible] change of circumstances in this country. Four millions of people who had been slaves had been made free and 200 000 of these men had served in the ranks of the Union army and had served faithfully. I know it is somewhat the mode in certain circles to sneer at [illegible] colored defenders, but I say on the authority of the leading generals of the United States army, that they were good soldiers, that they did their duty like men, that they fought and bled, and many of them died offering the last sacrifice which humanity can [illegible] any cause. Why, General Harrison the [illegible] son of Indiana [Applause], said the [illegible] day that one of the handsomest foot [illegible] he ever saw in his life was at the battle [illegible] when Hood's army was defeated [illegible] colored brigade started after the rebel [illegible] and he said he thought he never saw [illegible] as fast as that colored brigade did [illegible] didn't overtake the rebels [Great [illegible] I say these men had earned the [illegible] wear the uniform of the United [illegible] this Congress, on the discussion of [illegible] ation bill, put on a clause dis[illegible] the colored regiment and driving [illegible] of the service. Another clause of the army bill of 1866 [illegible] that any man who had served in the Confederate army and had been an enrolled [illegible] to his country, should ever be an officer [illegible] the United States army and there is now [illegible] of the House of Representatives a bill to repeal that clause and so we see [illegible] spirit of Congress is to drive out the [illegible] from the army of the United [illegible] he served faithfully and to bring [illegible] the Confederate soldier who did his [illegible] oy it. And that legislation was [illegible]ed; but it was defeated by the Senate [illegible] United States. I might go on and [illegible] upon almost all of these [illegible] ion bills in which the spirit seemed [illegible] legislate against the nationality of this [illegible]

I will give you one more. We came to the [illegible] Diplomatic bill. The pay of the [illegible] of the United States is more than remu[illegible] by the fees collected by him. The fees [illegible] in excess of their salaries are $300,000, and yet when they came on this little bill, which involved [illegible] outlay for the whole force, they [illegible] 42 places where we have hitherto [illegible], and ordered that no consulates [illegible] be maintained there. And upon the ground that although all [illegible] largely more than paid their [illegible] at those particular points the [illegible] quite amount to the salaries. And [illegible] very points you would find the [illegible] the English flag, the German [illegible] and Russian flags, and even [illegible] of Belgium and Holland, but [illegible] flag, and the American flag was [illegible] under their orders at 42 places [illegible] hitherto been flying was hauled [illegible] ground that it cost a few thous[illegible] to keep it flying. Now the Re[illegible] party, I think I may say both [illegible] own country, where they fought [illegible] tion of the flag over the terri[illegible] all the countries of the globe, [illegible] ground that where the [illegible] has once been raised it shall [illegible] down. [Applause] And I [illegible] say that if the next Congress is [illegible] as I believe it will be, and certain [illegible] New York does its full duty one [illegible] be to restore the American flag [illegible] where they have ordered it to be [illegible]

[illegible] WAR CLAIMS

[illegible] one more subject, the one subject [illegible] is irritating above all others to [illegible] Democratic mind, is the Southern [illegible] claims, and if it is allowable to cre[illegible] profanity, you can easily have it by [illegible] them to the Democrat and [illegible] him shout [laughter]—then hear [illegible] adjectives and oaths the mildest of [illegible] liar," with a prefix. The Republi[illegible] say, are going around absolutely [illegible] and lying, and they will quote the [illegible] of the United States to you and [illegible] look there, the constitution also [illegible] is this, the Republicans are lying [illegible] length and breadth of the land [illegible] tion forbids it, say the Democrats [illegible] to the fourteenth amendment [illegible] does forbid the payment of [illegible] that is, the debt of the rebel [illegible]; and it also forbids the payment [illegible] that was emancipated under the [illegible] amendment. Now, I think I can [illegible] how that both these institutions [illegible] around and evaded, but I don't [illegible] that. For the sake of argument [illegible] in its broadest sense, as far as any [illegible] will claim it, that these classes of [illegible] and cannot be paid. Grant [illegible] is in the constitution, those [illegible] are barred, and when I have [illegible] you I have not touched the [illegible] controversy, because the class [illegible] which we are legislating has [illegible] to do with the payment for [illegible] prohibited by the thirteenth [illegible]

[illegible] of those claims there are [illegible] the House of Representatives of [illegible] 143 bills, besides a general [illegible] hold in my hand, and of which [illegible] fac-simile—a general law of [illegible] to you one paragraph and [illegible] I will read will to any intelli[illegible] how that that under its operation [illegible] of the United States can be bank[illegible] months. Now the bill pending [illegible] in the House of Representatives before [illegible] committee where it was referred [illegible], and whence it has not been re[illegible] reads thus: "That the Secretary [illegible] is hereby authorized to allow a reason[illegible] compensation to all citizens of the United [illegible] York you, all citizens [illegible] Heretofore and generally we [illegible] paying only the claims that loyal [illegible] have against the government of the [illegible] Now, the attempt is to jump [illegible] action—to leap clear over it and the [illegible] is to pay to all citizens of the United [illegible] Pay what? "To allow reasonable [illegible] tion to all citizens for the use and [illegible] tion of their property by the United [illegible] army, or any part thereof during the late civil war." Mark you wherever the [illegible] came or marched or fought on railroad or turnpike or across bridges toll may be [illegible] and rent charged and damages col[illegible] ted, "provided that the affidavit of the claimant, supported by the competent testimony of any reputable citizen shall be sufficient proof to establish the fact of the use and occupation of such property by said army." A man puts in a claim and his associate swears that he knows it is a good claim and [illegible] concludes the case. Petroleum V. Nasby puts in a claim at the Confederate Corners, and Bascom who kept the liquor store at that place swears that he knows it to be just and that is the end of it. The claim is made out. Nothing more is to be done. If the claimant swears that the government owed him and any reputable citizen—and I tell you when you come to the construction that a Democratic House will put on any reputable citizen you have a very wide margin. Now the fact which I wish to impress on your mind is that this removes all the distinctions which have heretofore prevailed. The Democrats turn round and say, "You have been paying war [illegible] your Congress has been paying war [illegible]" I have had it said to me, "You have [illegible] a war claim." Certain[illegible] it, but it was always for loyal [illegible] and [illegible] do we recognize the right of loyal men to be paid for the losses they sustained in the war that in 1871 we established what is known as the Southern Claims Commission [illegible] to hear and determine every case [illegible] that was sustained by loyal men in all [illegible] of the armies of the United States. If a loyal man [illegible] New York [illegible] or forage or [illegible] for the [illegible] the army of the [illegible] that [illegible] property [illegible] without just compensation and he [illegible] Virginia [illegible] New York [illegible] resources shall reward and pay to the [illegible] you enter upon [illegible]

Why, when you were passing the Fourteenth Amendment, why when you were [illegible] ing the payment for slaves in the Fourteenth Amendment, why when you were prohibiting the payment of the rebel debt did you not also prohibit the payment of this class of claims that is now vexing Congress. My answer is simply this. The fourteenth amendment was passed in 1866 and at that time [illegible] never entered into the brain of [illegible] the length and the breadth and the depth of the Democratic and rebel impudence and insolence or that they could think of asking the United States to pay them for the expenses of the war. It is the result of ten years of Democratic development that has brought them up to that. That had however never been dreamed of at that time—never once.

Now there are gentlemen who say to you: This is all nonsense, this is mere nonsense for campaign effect—a device to frighten the people—a mere campaign ruse. My answer to that is—or rather my question is for being a Yankee I am always ready to ask one question in answer to another—Why do the Southern men put these bills in for if this is mere nonsense, if this means nothing if they use the phrase of the day this does not mean business, why put the bills in. Just answer me that now my Democratic friends. They know just as much as you know to-day or as well as any man knows that the putting forward claims of this character would be a stumbling block and a rock of offense to the loyal minds of the men of the North. They knew it would be a loss that they would have to meet it on every stump and that it would be the hardest campaign that they would have to encounter. And yet with all this such is the unanimous opinion of the South in favor of the claims that there is not a Southern representative elected by a Democratic constituency that dares to refuse to put in these bills. There is not one. I say the sentiment in the South on this question amounts to positive unanimity, and you give power to a Democratic administration elected by a solid South deriving its entire political strength and prestige from the Southern vote, controlled as it would be by that Southern vote controlled in its measures as the present House of Representatives is controlled by an inferior number of southern men and I ask you what is there in an administration of which Mr. Tilden is head to resist such an attempt? Why it is absolutely absurd. Give them the entire Treasury of the United States and see if they would not help themselves to it? [Applause] Why gentlemen I am only accusing them when I say this, of having human nature. You may take any class of men and beat them in a war as we beat the rebels and then let them be foisted into power and they will help themselves to your resources. Northern men would do it under like circumstances, anybody would do it that had an opportunity. Under those circumstances human nature is human nature. The passion of that rebellion lies smoldering and smoking and ready to be ignited. Revenge burns deep and strong and powerful. Give them power and they will put their foot on you of the North as certainly as gravitation is a law of the universe. [Applause] Any Northern man who votes with the idea that they are to be governed by some namby pamby sentimentalism about civil rights reform or some loud talk of the various heads of reform that were preached in that remarkable postcript and letter that were put out at the St Louis Convention—anybody who believes that that kind of sentimentalism is to be the warp and woof of Mr Tilden's administration if he should have one does not understand human nature. They will seize the Treasury of the United States and they will do it completely. I have this to say in behalf of these Southern fellows—they are bold. They put their feet right square down on the necks of these Northern Democrats that were there in Congress. They have command of the ship at both ends. They have the anchor at the front and the rudder at the rear, and the Democrats of the North are the passengers. [Applause] They do not set the compass or square the sails or hold the helm. The other men do it and if the North take them on trust they will wake up from a terrible delusion—when too late. [Applause.]

THE DEMOCRATIC POSITION ON THE FINANCES

And then gentlemen, this question treads upon another. It connects itself most palpably with another question. You know very well that Mr Tilden, as soon as we had passed the specie resumption act of 1875 proposing to resume payment on behalf of the government on the 1st of January, 1879, made haste to induce the Democratic legislature of New York to conform the legislation of your great State to that of the nation, and they did it and the act on your statute books to-day provides for the payment and collection of your taxes in gold and silver, and for the enforcement of your contracts in gold and silver. And it was done with some ostentation and with a loud proclamation about "no step backward" by that eminent platform writer, Manton Marble. After this had been done, Mr Tilden discovered, and those who were associated with him, that they could not have Southern support on that basis and I say here to-night that it is a well known fact that the Southern men are deeply hostile to specie payments. Why? They know perfectly well that when gold dollars and silver dollars are the currency of this country, and you are paying and receiving and your taxes are collected and your Government disburses them they know very well—no one knows better—that never will a dollar be collected in this country for the payment of the rebel debt or for the payment of any rebel claim whatever. But they also know that if they can keep the greenback bag open at both ends they can get the rebel claim in at one end and get the payment for it out of the other with some kind of paper money and then you and I and the other people of this country will have to take care of the paper money. And that accounts for the step backward after promising that there should be none on the momentous question of specie payments. That accounts for the re[illegible] tion. That accounts for the fact of backing down and going for the repeal of the resumption act after Mr Tilden had landed it in a special message to the legislature and had induced the legislature to pass an act in conformity with it. The next thing we hear from the same political managers is the repeal of it and this fact connects itself indissolubly with the payment of the rebel war claims. [Applause.]

MR TILDEN'S WAR RECORD

There is another thing I have against Mr Tilden. I have read with an immense deal of instruction the arraignment that Governor Dix made of Mr Tilden for his refusal to give even the weight of his name to a meeting in your great city held in the spring of 1861 in the cause of the Union. You in New York, gentlemen don't know and could not measure the extent of the influence of that meeting. When that crisis came upon us at the war in the North every village and hamlet held its great meeting of loyal citizens and the very next moment after the [illegible] forth with a patriotic gush [illegible] the first thought of every thoughtful man in the country was how does the city of New York stand. New York was the financial centre and still is of the continent. Its press was more widely disseminated as a radiating centre of influence it far transcended any other [illegible] cities in the country. More than that, New York was the point from which public opinion was formed of the affairs of the Union. Those of you who have traveled in Europe know that you never saw any other paper than a New York paper there and European public opinion is formed as much upon New York as we derive our opinion of England from London, or of France from Paris or of Germany from Berlin. And therefore it became of the last importance that New York in this supreme crisis should speak with no uncertain voice. That great meeting of 1861 has become historic and will remain so, as the most important meeting ever held on this continent except that indeed held 100 years ago in Philadelphia to ratify the Declaration of Independence [illegible] [Applause.] That meeting, as I understand—and the array of testimony seems undeniable—Mr Tilden refused to give the weight even of his name, and I am of the opinion that Tilden is [illegible] now getting [illegible] that he attended the meeting. I [illegible] that Mr Manton Marble and Mr [illegible] are out with [illegible] that he attended it. I [illegible] You can [illegible] at a meeting [illegible] All [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] least possible [illegible] claim for [illegible]

RESULTS OF DEMOCRATIC VICTORY

Men associated by virtue and Confederate for villainy. Now gentlemen I have not been indulging in what is popularly known as shaking the bloody shirt. I have preferred to dwell upon the Democratic party as it was is presenting itself as nearly as I am able the spirit as shown by them the purposes intended by them the measures initiated by them in their present power in the House of Representatives. And I have desired in that presentation to ask you as thoughtful men and responsible voters this question: If with the small modicum of power with which they have been intrusted in the House of Representatives and intrusted at a time when they had every temptation and every powerful impulse to be prudent and wary and cautious—if I say with all these influences making them tend to prudence they have acted as I have shown you they have acted what is the use of speculating as to what they will do with the President a Democratic President, and the Senate a Democratic Senate. If it be thus in the green tree what in God's name will it be in full maturity? But as to the bloody shirt—this shaking of the bloody shirt as has been well said—that is not the crime; the crime is the reason why we shake the bloody shirt, and it will be shaken just as long as crime prevails.

Now they tell you that they had a peaceful election in Mississippi last year and that they recovered that State from the Republicans. Mississippi upon any registry of voting is Republican by an overwhelming majority. It is nearly as strongly Republican as Vermont. But they last year carried it for a Democratic governor and they seized the legislature. They have all the power and they tell you very defiantly, and with a great flourish of pride in their manner that it was a peaceful election. Well I wish to put it on record here and to be held responsible for what I say that at what they call a peaceful election there were more men murdered—in the campaign leading to that election and connected with that Democratic triumph in Mississippi—there were more men murdered than were ever murdered or who ever lost their lives at all the elections—municipal, State and national that have ever been held in all the free States from Maine to California in all the time of the federal government, from George Washington down to Grant. Take all the little election rows and riots and scrimmages and disturbances in times of high excitement—and you are always liable to have them especially in large cities where there are many bad elements—and put them all together at all the elections in all the free States from the foundation of the federal government to this hour and they will not aggregate one-half nay not one quarter of the men that lost their lives in a peaceful election last year. I want to put on record another fact too, that since the surrender of Gen. Lee—and I state this from official papers. I am not making a loose, rambling statement, but I am taking it from evidence that would be taken for evidence in any court of law—a little stricter evidence than that on which they propose to assail the Treasury of the United States, testimony that could be cumulated a hundred fold if the men who could give it dared to speak out, since the war closed in 1865 there have been more men murdered in the South for political opinion—that is, murdered for being Republicans—than fell on the Union side in the three bloodiest battles of the war. I make that statement gentlemen. And yet nothing is more common than to sneer at the bloody shirt, and the man who pretends to discuss the validity and integrity of the 13th 14th and 15th amendments and who insists that they form the groundwork of this contest in which we are engaged is rather laughed down in Democratic audiences and in Democratic newspapers. They say that is a question which we are forcing upon the people and which does not belong to this campaign and the South wants peace and the people who talk about outrages upon poor negroes are shaking the bloody shirt and are trying to get up an excitement to hide some other issue which they wish to avoid. All I have to say about that is this: that if the government of the United States if it intends to be honest is bound either to repeal and annul the 14th and 15th amendments or to enforce them. [Applause] For there is one thing you can not stand and that is to allow these amendments to remain in your constitution and quietly permit them to be trampled under foot and made of no effect. [Applause] That is just what you cannot do. Let me tell you gentlemen that can never be endured in this country, and the man who thinks he can do it with safety in New York has either never read history or has read it in vain. The man who thinks that any constitutional franchise which he enjoys in the city of New York is safe while the constitutional franchise of any other man in this country is trampled upon makes a great and grievous mistake. [Applause] The government of the United States is powerful—none more so on the globe, but it is not powerful enough to do wrong.

OBJECTS.

This Savings Bank has been formed at the desire and under the auspices of thirty one gentlemen citizens of Oregon and Washington Territory who have become stockholders therein along with certain other gentlemen in Scotland to supply a want hitherto much felt, namely an Institution where similar to those in California the working farming and other classes of Oregon and Washington Territory may from time to time deposit their various savings along with the Bank's own capital for investment in Oregon and Washington Territory [to which the Bank's operations are limited] secured from Mortgages over City Properties, Farming and other Lands for the purpose thereby of assisting to develop the Industries of the North Pacific coast.

The Bank's Directors and Officers in Oregon having had considerable experience in finance and real estate securities their policy will be to guard depositors moneys and the Stockholders capital by loaning only on first class securities, high interest being a secondary consideration. The Bank does not therefore seek to employ its funds in a commercial banking business, confining its operations strictly to those securities with which its Directors are familiarly acquainted, such as real estate loans, advances on bonds, assignments and similar securities which are not fluctuating in value. Hence no loans will be made on Promissory Notes alone or Bills of Exchange and such like.

Security to Depositors.

The security for repayment of Depositors moneys is two fold:

1st. Not only the mortgages, assignments, bonds and other pledges on which the Bank's deposits are carefully loaned and the real estate secured there by which must be located in Oregon and Washington Territory, but also

2d. The Bank's own $300 000 capital specially pledged for the safety of depositors, in order that all losses (if any) shall be made therefrom, thus forming a double security for depositors moneys.

No charge for entrance fee or pass books.

Deposits received from $1 50 and upwards.

Rates of Interest on application.

Hours from 9 A M to 3 P M.

Certificates of Incorporation, Constitution, Articles of Association, Regulations and By laws for depositors may be seen at the Bank's office.

By order of Directors,

WILLIAM REID,
Managing Director
